

Kristin Kennedy was born in Stirling, Scotland but she is now based in Manchester, England. She has a degree in Contemporary Art Practice however became more interested in digital drawing since leaving University. Her artistic influence is pop culture, but she originally started out drawing movie characters as she's a big fan of film and old Hollywood! She has always been inspired by bright colours and incorporates these into her designs. Portraits are her favourite thing to draw, especially eyes as she loves adding glitter to really make them stand out. When drawing you'll find her listening to anything from The Rolling Stones to Miley Cyrus or watching New Girl and Married at First Sight! She hopes one day in the future she'll have a little sausage dog by her side called Pesto as she absolutely adores dogs
