

Sergio was born and raised in Madrid. He grew up fascinated by music and art, spending hours trying to capture reality on paper, canvas, or a musical keyboard. In 2014, while getting a master's in graphic design and advertising production, Sergio also began making vector illustrations, evolving and developing his style.

He enjoys working with different techniques such as watercolor, charcoal, pastel, and graphite. His passion and curiosity for art push him to constantly explore new techniques in order to enrich his work. Sergio loves sketching and taking long walks with his sketchbook, to capture anything that catches his interest. Sergio also has a passion for architecture and photography, which is evident in his work.
