

Sofia Doudine is a french graphic designer and illustrator from Paris, specialized in branding design. She graduated with a degree in visual communication in 2010 and first started working for many years in advertising and event agencies. Her varied experiences gave her the opportunity to extend her knowledge on several fields.

Sofia's accomplishments range from designing a complete visual identity, illustration and edition to motion design. Colours fascinate her and she never stops studying them. She is constantly inspired by the world around her, and loves to capture the power, beauty and energy of women most of the time.
